

Local Developer

Someone that you can build a report with and is not necessarily in your area, but can connect with you through various mediums of communication like phone, skype, etc. It pays to broaden you horizons when looking for a developer. Someone that is actually in the same country as you and not overseas. This helps the economy and the small developer usually has a lot more to prove and is really the back-bone of the economy.

Content Management System (CMS)

A content management system (CMS) is a computer application that allows publishing, editing and modifying content, organizing, deleting as well as maintenance from a central interface. (Like Joomla or WordPress.) Such systems of content management provide procedures to manage workflow in a collaborative environment. These procedures can be manual steps or an automated cascade. CMSs have been available since the late 1990s.

CMSs are often used to run websites containing blogs, news, and shopping. Many corporate and marketing websites use CMSs. CMSs typically aim to avoid the need for hand coding, but may support it for specific elements or entire pages.
